

Source 360 SCM Services: LEADING THE LEGACY OF ETHICALLY DRIVEN SOURCING SERVICES

Divyesh Kachhi,
Founder

During the disastrous COVID-19 pandemic, the countries and companies that had been optimizing their supply chains by restructuring their operations through offshoring to low-cost countries have faced severe disruptions. As companies look to fix their broken value chains in the short term and reduce their supply chain risks in the long term, India has emerged as a preferred business destination during and after the COVID-19 pandemic. Over the years, India has witnessed a tremendous increase in the volumes being procured from the country and is emerging as a preferred destination due to various factors like language, ethic levels, IT maturity, understanding of exact requirements, and management style similar to the western countries. With India's strong macroeconomic fundamentals, favorable demographic dividend, improved ease of doing business, and availability of resources for ramping up manufacturing capacities, the country has become the preferred choice as a supply chain partner across the globe.

Uniquely positioned in this space is Gujarat-based Source 360 SCM Services, a diligent and ethically aware company that delivers cost-effective quality products and services to the world's most demanding projects and mining sites. According to Divyesh Kachhi, Founder, "What sets us apart from our competitors is that we deliver high-end products to our customers and create a long-term business relationship through consistent service. We identify the power of worldwide insights, relationships, collaboration, and learning to deliver exceptional service to our clients. We are ethically unyielding, straightforward, and trustworthy and by that, we mean that our behavior is aligned with our words and we take responsibility for our actions."
